Anika Moa – In Swings The Tide INSTORE NOW

As the seasons change, the air gets warmer, and birds begin to arrive back from the north, Anika Moa returns with her third and most complete album to date, In Swings The Tide. Those who know Anika will be further intrigued, those who have not yet come across this 27-year-old singer/songwriter, soon will. There isn't a voice like hers anywhere. Honest and heart wrenching with an underlying soul and energy that complements the songs she writes. You may have seen the cheeky grin. It gives a small insight into the persona behind it, and the music she has made for the best part of the last decade.

In Swings The Tide is her latest offering. It takes one listen through to realise it is an album that she has poured all of her creative energies into. Featuring the new single 'Dreams In My Head', the sound of Anika Moa is the sound of one of New Zealand's best-loved troubadours, and one who speaks from the truth of her experiences.

Although her trademark sound is still apparent, that beautiful voice as present as ever, the flavour of her songs has evolved. A mixture of pop sensibilities with a country swing and spring amongst her wondrous melodies, the music speaks for itself.

"I think that as a musician you always strive to do better than the last album and to grow and develop as a writer, as a singer, as a... well, everything. This third album is a more mature and more developed me."

Goldenhorse – Reporter INSTORE NOW

Goldenhorse return with their stunning new album Reporter. Loaded with the band's blend of pop-folk, the first single 'Jump Into The Sun' is a welcome reminder that Goldenhorse have been hiding for far too long. And, as expected, their music still conjures up all the best images of a summer's day.

Since we last saw them, the kiwi five-piece have been busy taking their unique sound to other parts of the globe. Touring Europe, and playing festivals in Germany, Austria and Switzerland among other places, they have returned home with a cache of melodic new songs and a matured sound.

"It's an album I'm really proud of," says singer Kirsten Morrell "I worked super hard at getting some different vocals to what I've previously done. I tried a different approach to writing and the arranging of songs and I played more music. I have over the years come to appreciate the genius of Geoff Maddock's musical brain and our collaboration is something I value so much... it's hard to describe. Ben wrote as well adding a new element. When we first listened back to the album I started to cry. For me this is a strangely personal album. I love it."

Liam Finn – I'll Be Lightning

If you've haven't heard Liam Finn's I'll Be Lightning yet – you've been missing out on one of the most critically acclaimed and rewarding albums released this year – you must get your hands on a copy of this!

Liam spent two months at the beginning of 2007 in a central Auckland studio playing, recording, engineering and producing the magnificent I'll Be Lightning. "I didn't want to compromise or collaborate," he acknowledges. "I wanted to record these songs the way I heard them in my head. And I had a very clear idea of how I wanted them."

Finn has been writing the songs that appear on this album for the past few years, initially he imagined some of the songs being used by Betchadupa – but, as Finn says, "the stuff I was writing was very personal and pretty intimate. These songs are very honest, they're like the story of my life over the past few years and I think they're some of the best songs I've ever written." We couldn't agree more.

Top Gear – The Challenges

RELEASED 13TH NOVEMBER, 2007

Top Gear doesn't do things by halves, which is completely apparent in Top Gear: The Challenges. Not only do they attempt to drive on water, send a car into space and race a bunch of jumping French men only to lose, they also manage to embroil several celebrities. Top Gear: The Challenges features the most ludicrous stunts ever undertaken in a TV show!

In an effort to do things a bit differently, Jeremy, Richard and James are asked to go out and buy their own everyday cars, before converting them into stretch limos. Jeremy opts for a tiny Fiat Panda, Richard decides to use an MGF roadster and James, meanwhile, goes for an Alfa Romeo 164 and a Saab 9000, with the intention of making a sort of Alfa Romeaab. James takes best male nominee Lemar for a tour of every one-way system in West London, whilst Radio 1 DJ Chris Moyles is happy just to survive the journey as Jeremy's giant Panda falls in half.

Robert Plant & Alison Krauss – Raising Sand

Stereophonics – Pull The Pin INSTORE NOW

Stereophonics return with their eagerly awaited 6th studio album Pull The Pin, their first release in 2 years. Written by Kelly Jones and featuring the impressive lead single 'It Means Nothing', Pull The Pin combines the band's rockiest and most melodic aspects in one blazing LP that looks set to be one of the definitive albums of their incredible ten-year career. Produced by Kelly and Jim Love (Foo Fighters, Manic Street Preachers) Pull The Pin is a rock record of epic proportions.

Amidst the minutely observed mini-dramas of the times we live in ('Soldiers Make Good Targets', 'Daisy Lane', 'Bank Holiday Monday') there are songs of loss and longing ('Stone', 'Bright Red Star', 'Lady Luck', 'Crush'). "There are the undercurrents of a doomed romance," is all Kelly will reveal, "something that's never gonna go anywhere, but maybe it can go everywhere, the kind of emotions that make writing great cause you don't know your arse from your elbow." And it concludes with 'Drowning', one of the most brutally raw expressions of emotional turmoil ever committed to record. "Sometimes I wonder where the words come from myself. If you just open your mouth and sing, it is the truest form of expression, because it has just come out of your soul."

Mixed by Spike Stent, whose previous credits include U2, Depeche Mode and Massive Attack, it's a welcome return for the band and follows a decade of uninterrupted commercial success.

The musical collaboration of the decade, Raising Sand is the sound of two iconic figures stepping out of their respective comfort zones and letting their instincts lead them across a brave new sonic landscape. Despite hailing from distinctly different backgrounds, Blue Grass pioneer Alison Krauss and Rock n Roll legend Robert Plant (Led Zeppelin) share a maverick spirit and willingness to extend the boundaries of their respective genres.

This spirit, expertly honed by producer T Bone Burnett, has resulted in an album pitched three steps beyond some cosmic collision of early urban blues, spacious West Texas country, and the untapped potential of the folk-rock revolution. Supported by the unparalleled musicianship of Marc Ribot, Dennis Crouch, Mike Seeger, Jay Bellerose, Norman Blake, Greg Leisz, Patrick

Warren, and Riley Baugus, Plant and Krauss – as both solo and harmony vocalists – tackle an intriguing selection of songs from such tunesmiths as Tom Waits, Gene Clark, Sam Phillips, Townes Van Zandt, The Everly Brothers, and Mel Tillis. Raising Sand finds Robert Plant and Alison Krauss exploring popular music's elemental roots while still sounding effortlessly, breath-takingly contemporary.

Raising Sand is truly evocative. The sound Plant, Krauss and Burnett invented is sophisticated and fresh, without any of the soupy sentimentality of many duet CDs out there these days. So, don't just sit there, go buy this CD. – World Music Central INSTORE NOW

The Hives – The Black & White Album

People, it is as if you have existed only in pathetic colours like beige, or pastel pink. For two years, you have felt listless, wishy-washy and largely kicks-free. Bad! But it has been bad for a reason: so that you fully appreciate the return of the good times. And these only come in two colours: BLACK & WHITE!

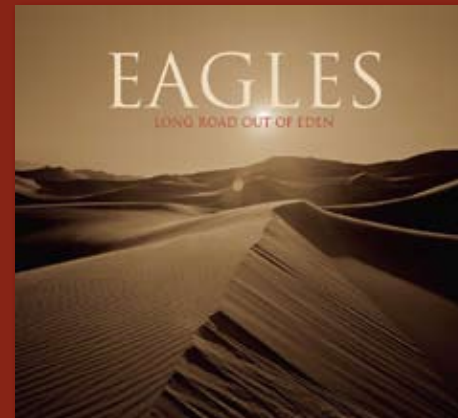

The curators of that perfectly balanced colour scheme, have been away far too long. They are now ready to bring the BLACK & WHITE again, only more so.

With 7 tracks produced by the mighty Pharell The Hives have made a record which has everything that you originally loved them for – kicks, riffs, good times, etc etc etc – while also being snazzy and new and longer and generally different from everything they did before. You might almost say it's like making the transition from monochrome TV to colour TV, except The Hives are more BLACK & WHITE than ever, so that would be misleading.

The Eagles – Long Road Out Of Eden INSTORE NOW

Yes, it's true! Iconic band the Eagles are back with their first album of new material since The Long Run from 1979!! Entitled Long Road Out of Eden, this specially priced 2CD set is their first full studio release in 28 years and features the excellent first single 'How Long'.

Fans surely won't be disappointed with Long Road Out of Eden. The album features a wealth of Don Henley/Glenn Frey co-writes and a broad palette of musical styles most representative of the band's "Hotel California" and "The Long Run" eras, a mix of lengthy set pieces and more Cali-rock, radio-oriented gems. The set, which opens with the gentle but foreboding harmony-fest "No More Walks in the Wood," is part social commentary, part examination of the human condition and part re-introduction of the band via new and powerful songs.

Debut single "How Long," a J.D. Souther original, maintains an easy-rolling "Already Gone" vibe, but gives little indication of the strength of the material to follow. "Busy Being Fabulous" is a mid-tempo twanger featuring the familiar Henley vitriol, and the percussive "What Do I Do with my Heart" boasts an earnest Frey vocal and a gorgeous, swirling bridge. "I thought I'd be above it all by now, in some country garden in the shade," Henley sings on "Business As Usual." As this album demonstrates, the Eagles are clearly not ready to kick back in the shade. – Billboard.com

BSM – Rhythm & Rhyme

BSM proudly present to you their debut studio album Rhythm & Rhyme – a super-sized Pacific dish of hip-hop, funk & afro-beat with a splash of hot Latin sauce! This eagerly anticipated sophomore release from the monster thirteen-piece band, formerly known as Batacada Sound Machine, was lovingly crafted by renowned UK producer Neil Sparkes, who mixed and mastered the album in New York City at the legendary Avatar studios. One of Neil's overriding goals for Rhythm & Rhyme was to capture the infectious energy and collective impulsiveness of BSM's live performances. The resulting album honestly reflects BSM's musical integrity, it captures the bands blistering live energy, for which they have become so famous both nationally & abroad.

"This debut... with its related funk family of Samba, Hip-Hop, Salsa and Dub – all the time laced with a Brazilian spice – should propel Batacada Sound Machine to where they belong; in the spotlight."
– Peter Thornton, Rip It Up

Whirimako Black – Sings INSTORE NOW

Whirimako Black Sings is acclaimed Te Reo singer Whirimako Black's 6th album and is a follow-up to her first jazz album Soul Sessions.

With the critical and sales success of Soul Sessions, Whirimako Black has clearly earned the accolade of "New Zealand's first lady of jazz". Her voice has been described as "...a rare and delicate instrument" and critics were impressed by her delivery and lower register "that owes much to great singers like Sarah Vaughan, Nina Simone and Dionne Warwick". Whirimako Black Sings contains eleven instantly recognisable classics, from the extraordinary vocal performances on 'Round Midnight' and 'My Funny Valentine', to the romance of 'The Shadow Of Your Smile' and soulful blues of 'Willow Weep For Me'..... The Te Reo performances illuminate these songs like never before!

Will Martin – A New World INSTORE NOW

It has all been a lead up to this – A New World, his stunning debut album for Universal Classics and Jazz, is an epic collection of classical crossover songs.

"I am an entertainer, I sing, I can play the piano. I want to bring an entertainment factor to this kind of music because it has never really been done before... I intend to rock out with a big orchestra behind me. I want to be real. I want to misbehave. I want to reach people..."

Joan Armatrading – Into The Blues INSTORE NOW

Into The Blues is the superb new album from acclaimed Caribbean-born English singer/songwriter/guitarist Joan Armatrading. As an artist, Joan has lost none of her strength over the years and her distinctive mix of rock, reggae and folk is as relevant now as ever. Whilst not strictly a blues album 'Into The Blues' does carry a blues feeling over Joan's strong guitar, her familiar lyrical stylising and melodic songwriting. Essential listening and the perfect warm up for her upcoming NZ tour dates.

Joss Stone – Introducing Joss Stone INSTORE NOW

With her third album, Introducing Joss Stone, the British soul singer and songwriter feels that finally she is expressing her true musical vision. Joss has made an album that captures her perfectly in this moment in time. Her love of her music, and her admiration for the legends that have come before, combine with her phenomenally expressive voice to deliver an electrifying mix of warm vintage soul, '70s-style R&B, Motown girlgroup harmonies, and jazzy grooves. Highlights include the impressive lead single 'Tell Me About It' and 'Music' (Featuring Lauryn Hill). Joss Stone will play a one-off show in Auckland on Dec 2.

We still get a lot of enjoyment out of going into the studio. We still see it as a wondrous place where something magical can happen."

For We Are The Night, which features this year's dance sensation 'The Salmon Dance' a host of fantastic collaborators join the Chemical Brothers – bringing new sounds, strong songs, twisted melodies, changing emotions and devastating beats – something that's just like the Chemical Brothers yet quite unlike anything you've heard from them or anyone else before.

Spice Girls – Greatest Hits

INSTORE NOVEMBER 12

For the first time ever all those classic hits will be available together in one collection. On November 12th 2007 the Spice Girls will release their Greatest Hits album. Over the years there has been much speculation and rumour about this release, but now it's official!

From the summer of 1996 the charts were never quite to be the same again. The world's most famous girl group of all time shot straight to number one with their debut single 'Wannabe'. Instantly Emma, Geri, Mel B, Melanie C and Victoria became household names, sold millions of albums, traveled the world, made headline after headline, broke all the records and became part of the cultural fabric of this country.

The album charts the history of the band, starting with 'Wannabe', which originally went to Number 1 in the UK and 30 other countries in July 1996, right up to the present day, with two brand new songs, the forthcoming single 'Headlines (Friendship Never Ends)' and 'Voodoo'. The collection also includes their three consecutive Christmas Number One singles (a record they share with The Beatles), '2 Become 1' (1996), 'Too Much' (1997) and 'Goodbye' (1998).

The new single 'Headlines (Friendship Never Ends)' will be the official 2007 Children In Need song in the UK. The girls will be donating all profits to the charity.

The History Boys

INSTORE NOW

Based on the acclaimed play of the same name, The History Boys is a faithful, intelligent piece of cinema, even if it is a little reluctant to stray from its theatrical roots. Penned by Alan Bennett and set in 1982 Yorkshire, The History Boys follows a group of 'A' Level students as they're schooled through their attempts to get into Oxbridge. Despite the fine teaching by excellent professionals like Mrs Lintott in history and the intellectually enthusiastic Hector in General Studies, the Headmaster is not satisfied. He signs on the young Irwin to polish the students' style to give them the best chance. In this mix of intellectualism and creative spirit that guides a rigorous preparation regime for that ultimate educational brass ring, the lives of the randy students and the ostensibly restrained faculty intertwine that would change their lives forever.

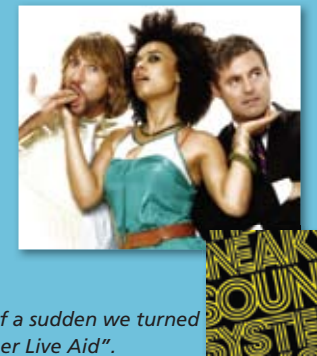

M Contains offensive language and sexual references

Sneaky Soundsystem

INSTORE NOW

Let us introduce you to Australia's numero uno dance act- you will have heard the stomping singles 'Pictures' and 'UFO' – you really must hear the whole shebang! This album takes its influences from all over the shop...the world of P-funk, early eighties disco, The Cure, New Order, Human League, Prince, Kate Bush, The Cars, Eurythmics and more modern German electronic producers than you could poke a stick at. Think stiff beats, thick bass lines, lush melodies, haunting vocals, rolling guitar licks and urban tales of love and loss. It is part-melancholic beauty but for the most part, it's party mayhem.

"We were like this electronic garage band with delusions of stadium glory; fantasising about the day we play to a billion people at the next Live Aid. All of a sudden we turned into a real band and we 'were' playing in a stadium...all we need now is another Live Aid".

Alicia Keys – As I Am

INSTORE NOVEMBER 12

Nine-time Grammy Award winner Alicia Keys returns with her long-awaited third studio album, As I Am. One of the few artists who can capture an old-school vibe and make it feel refreshingly new, Alicia tackles this feat once again with an album she describes as "Janis Joplin meets Aretha Franklin." Punctuated with rich powerful vocals, Alicia's vocal muses can be felt on songs ranging from the anthemic "Superwoman" and power-charged "Go Ahead" to the misty-eyed ballad "Like You Never See Me Again" and the soulful "Sure Looks Good To Me." Alicia Keys is adored by fans, critics and her peers... "Alicia is the most authentic artist of our generation... She's strong where she needs to be... Not just strong as a woman (there are many strong women out there) but strong as an artist (there are few, regardless of gender)." – John Mayer

Queen Rock Montreal INSTORE NOVEMBER 12

When Queen returned for the fourth time to Montreal's 18,000 seater Forum in November 1981, where this concert was recorded, it was after a 15 month absence which had seen them become the biggest band in the world.

"Hello Montreal! Long time no see. You wanna get crazy?" asks Freddie as the band tear into their alternative 'fast' version of 'We Will Rock You', and from there on Queen show their hard rock roots, slowing down only for 'Love of My Life' and the more mid-tempo 'Under Pressure', notably being performed live for the first time in this concert.

The real joy to be had in listening to Freddie, Brian, Roger and John performing here is that this recording delivers raw Queen. This is pre the Hot Space album, before keyboards would find a place in the band's touring line up; four God-gifted musicians in total cohesion, while finding space to demonstrate their individual strengths.
